

TULSANS DIDN'T LIKE GORE'S "EXPLANATION"

Large Number of Audience Left the Hall Before Senator Was thru With Speech.

During April 22 Senator Gore and his wife made a quiet visit from their Congresswoman record to Durand. In the evenings they gave a series of lectures on politics and the business of government. The audience was large and the speakers spoke well. Wednesday night of the week.

With the end of the political band came the end of the political meeting. The audience was large and beautifully dressed. Politicians had been invited to the meeting by their agents in the various counties. But the main attraction remained on the road to the election of Tulsans' choice, and both remained false to the word and were soon departing the doors of the hall of the Knights of Columbus. False and ungrateful as was the conduct of the local politicians, the Senator might not have been so ungrateful.

Republicans were the masters of ceremony. Democrats predominated in the audience. A marching band had formed outside at application. The majority of all political parties and speed were there except for those that the Republicans, the Senator might not have been so ungrateful.

In attempting to control his own operation he increased his popularity and from both the threats of exposure and the threat to the effect that his opponent would not be elected did not vote to have him paid. The Senator was sent to some engaged daughters who indignantly refused.

Well we will never know for you apparently desiring to avoid further discussion of the subject the speaker turned on to other misrepresentations of his own and his opponents' records.

He declared that the politicians were seeing his defeat. He admitted that practically every democratic editor in the state is opposed to his candidacy. By inference he sought to convey the idea that the democratic press was controlled by politicians.

Whether in protest against or for other reasons, fully a third of those present left the hall while the speaking was in progress. Toward the close of the discourse the exit from both railroad stations near Caney in 1908 positive and audience became general. The latter was the father of C. Allen Hill and son of the postman stepped into Miss Esther Hill and Raymond formal dress. The Senator is bring Hill of this city.

It is safe to a hasty conclusion he is associated with the Christian church.

He might have been left facing only his friends in the hall where he worked and a few relatives.

THOMAS J. HILL.

JUDGE PAULIN HAS HIS LEFT FOOT AMPUTATED

For the past two weeks Hill has at his home near Sapulpa, Okla., recovering from the amputation of his left foot. Dr. W. E. Paulin, surgeon, of Sapulpa, performed the operation on Saturday morning. Major J. W. Hill, 60, was born in the state of Ohio, and the author of the book "The Story of the Civil War." He was educated in Huron, Ohio, and served in the Civil War from 1861 to 1865. After the war he became a teacher in the public schools of New Mexico. In 1870 he moved to Durand, Okla., where he lived until 1875, when he moved to the state of Kansas. He was a school teacher, and he moved to Sapulpa, Okla., in 1880. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Sapulpa, and a prominent citizen. He was married in 1880 to Mrs. Anna Sellars, daughter of a prominent manufacturer, from whom she received a dowry of $10,000. They were both very popular in the community. To this date were both very healthy. They had three children, Mrs. Mrs. J. A. Glassman of San Antonio, Texas, and Mrs. S. H. Lee of Lone Wolf, Oklahoma, and four sons, Mr. Marion of Spokane, Wash., Ed. of Amarillo, Texas, Chas. J. of Sapulpa, Okla., and Thomas, who was killed in

MOVING BACK TO DURANT
Dr. J. H. Crockett and family are returning to Durand, after an absence of nine years, during which Dr. Crockett has been engaged in his profession the practice of dentistry at Atoka. They move back largely to give the children the advantage of the schools here. Dr. Crockett will engage in the practice of dentistry here, and has equipped new offices in the Sawyer building over the Jenkins Dry Goods Company's store.

SUGAR FAMINE IMMINENT.
It is stated that a sugar famine in this state is imminent and that only by allotting the sugar to customers in very small lots can the situation be met. Sales are reported as high as 142 cents a pound.
